Under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980, a hazardous substance is any element, compound, mixture, solution, or substance that, when released to the environment, may present substantial danger to the public health or welfare or to the environment. It also includes the following:

- a. Specifically designated substances
- b. Toxic pollutants under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act
- c. Hazardous wastes having the characteristics identified under or listed pursuant to the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976 (excluding any waste suspended from regulation under the Solid Waste Disposal Act by Congress)
- d. Hazardous air pollutants under the Clean Air Act
- e. Any imminently hazardous chemical substance or mixture for which the government has taken action under section 7 of the Toxic Substances Control Act.

Petroleum (including crude oil not otherwise specifically listed or designated as a hazardous substance under any of those laws), natural gas, natural gas liquids, liquefied natural gas, or synthetic gas useable for fuel (or mixtures of natural gas and such synthetic gas) are excluded.

Hazardous Waste

Glossary Term Usage | See Topic(s): 410

Related to Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976: a waste, or combination of wastes, that because of its quantity, concentration, toxicity, corrosiveness, mutagenicity or inflammability, or physical, chemical, or infectious characteristics may cause, or significantly contribute to, an increase in mortality or an increase in serious irreversible, or incapacitating reversible illness or pose a substantial present or potential hazard to human health or the environment when improperly treated, stored, transported, or disposed of, or otherwise managed. Health Care Cost Trend Rate

Glossary Term Usage | See Topic(s): 715

An assumption about the annual rates of change in the cost of health care benefits currently provided by the postretirement benefit plan, due to factors other than changes in the composition of the plan population by age and dependency status, for each year from the measurement date until the end of the period in which benefits are expected to be paid. The health care cost trend rates implicitly consider estimates of health care inflation, changes in health care utilization or delivery patterns, technological advances, and changes in the health status of the plan participants. Differing types of services, such as hospital care and dental care, may have different trend rates.
